

PRODUCER PROTOCOL FOR CELTIC PRIDE PREMIUM BEEF

Introduction

Beef marketed under the Celtic Pride brand will be produced and processed in Wales to meet the highest standards of quality, healthiness, taste, flavour and safety.

These standards will be achieved by the adoption of best practice in production, procurement, processing and sale.

The beef will be produced from cattle born, reared, finished and slaughtered in Wales from farming systems based on a predominance of grass and forage in the lifetime diet of these cattle.

This producer protocol proposes the required standards and qualities which producer suppliers will meet.

Producer Farms

The farms producing our Celtic Pride Premium Beef will be

- Registered holdings in Wales
- Registered under a recognised farm assurance scheme (FAWL)

All cattle will have been born, reared and finished on Welsh registered farms.

A Celtic Pride Premium Beef Producers Club is established. Club activities will include carcass classification and best practice in selection for slaughter.

As a supplier to Celtic Pride Premium Beef you will agree to make your farm premises, land, livestock and livestock identification and movement records available for inspection by Celtic Pride Limited at reasonable request by a Celtic Pride Representative.
